Parents are encouraged to visit our display board to explore the rich history that has shaped us into who we are today.

GENTLE REMINDER TO PARENTS OF ENGLISH LEARNING STUDENTS

If your child has qualified for the ELL program after taking the WIDA test, it indicates that they require support from our English Language Learning program. This means that your child is expected to follow the guidelines outlined in our language learning policy. Please note that parents cannot opt out of the ELL program to pursue outside tutoring instead. The ELL teacher will collaborate closely with the homeroom teacher to ensure that your child receives the appropriate support for their classroom learning. Thank you for your understanding and cooperation!

I LOVE TO READ : 3 - 28 March 2025

A Journey of Stories, Creativity, and Caring for Our Planet

What an amazing month it's been as we celebrated I Love to Read Month! Our theme, One Earth, Many Stories: Protecting Our Planet, inspired students to immerse themselves in books, create innovative projects, and explore ways to protect the environment.

The fun kicked off with a lively performance by Grade 4.2, who sang "You Can Count on Trees," reminding us of the importance of caring for the planet through actions like reducing waste and appreciating nature. Their song set the stage for a month full of creativity and discovery.

Throughout the month, our school was filled with literary adventures. We created a vibrant Word Wall with vocabulary from our Library Passport journeys, enjoyed a surprise visit from Geronimo Stilton, and listened to stories in multiple languages—Korean, Japanese, Hindi, Spanish, French, Thai and Chinese – showing that books unite us across cultures. Students also crafted recycled bookmarks using old book jackets, combining creativity with sustainability.

D.E.A.R (Drop Everything and Read) Time became a favorite tradition, where students read, relaxed, and lost themselves in their favorite books. This peaceful time was the heart of our month-long celebration.

We celebrated the hard work of our Reading Log Champions, Writing Contest Winners, and the Bookstore of My Dreams contest participants. Their creativity and dedication to reading were inspiring!

As I Love to Read Month wraps up, the journey doesn't end here. We've learned that reading not only opens new worlds but also empowers us to make a difference. Let's continue to read, create, and protect as we move forward.

Thank you to everyone who made this month unforgettable – let's keep the excitement going!
